Until 1935, Miss Robezniece, a Master of Pharmacy at the University of Latvia, was assistant to Professor E Zarins, now deceased, at that time head of the Pharmacy Division, Department of Chemistry. In 1935, Professor Zarins and Professor Kirchensteins, then Professor of Microbiology at the University, collaborated on a book concerning vitamins: Professor Zarins wrote a review on the book, which was most uncomplimentary to Kirchensteins, and induced Miss Robezniece to sign her name to it.
